You, yourself, may be the lucky one—you never realize how many friends you have till they begin gathering coupons for you. Or, why not get your friends together and select one among your number as your candidate—then all try to win for her.

Quite aside from the enjoyment of the California trip—made in Pullman cars with all the luxuries you can imagine—the contest itself is no end of fun. For there's excitement at every showing of the film as to which young woman will win the three votes for that installment.

Remember, this is not a contest of actresses or other well known women; it's a friendly neighborhood competition among your own friends.

CONTEST STARTS

Mon., April 26

M. Feinburg made a trip to Kansas City Monday.

Grover Mann of Tyrone was here between trains Tuesday.

Lost: Satchel with automobile tools, on streets of Liberal. Finder will please return to Blake Oil Co. Reward.

Miss Anna Vaughn returned Tuesday from Plains. She has just closed a term of school in the country north-west of there.

Misses Nellie and Anna Swant came up from Tyrone Tuesday to visit relatives and attend the band concert that evening.

H. N. Witt returned Monday night from Illinois, where he accompanied the body of his mother for interment several weeks ago.

Mrs. E. F. Brown of Los Angeles, California, arrived the last of the week from the eastern part of the state, where she had visited relatives. She will spend some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Feather, and family.

Mrs. H. L. Stewart arrived Saturday from Amarillo, Texas, to spend a couple of weeks at the home of her brother, E. R. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fields, two good citizens of the Lorena community, left yesterday for California, where they will attend the exposition and take in the sights several weeks.

Prof. McKeever, president of the Children's Welfare bureau of this state, will be in Liberal Tuesday and give lectures under the auspices of the playground association. Admission free.

Frank Franklin has obtained a ninety-day vacation from the Rock Island, and he and Mrs. Franklin have moved to the W. C. Stout farm, near Arkalon, which Mr. Franklin has rented, where he will pursue the prosaic paths of agriculture for three months.

A number of the local Knights of Pythias went to Forgan last night to assist in instituting a new lodge at that place. This order is founded on principles that can never die, and the new lodges springing up all over the country are the strongest evidence of its increasing popularity.

The Liberal Harness company is this week moving into their new location, the Wooley building, first door south of the postoffice. The Liberal Light company will occupy the north half of the same building. It is a good location and excellent domicile for both firms. The new building has been painted white inside, which with the well planned lighting arrangements, will give both firms plenty of light on the subject at all times.

To read the early struggles of W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, who died this week, should be an inspiration to every young newspaper man. Many of us think we are having a hard time to make a go of it, and most of us are, but our troubles fade into insignificance when compared to what he overcame. Col. Nelson is no longer in the flesh to inspire and encourage, but the record of his life is imperishable and every young newspaper proprietor should profit by his achievements.

It seems like every time the Democrat gets a little more work than it can take care of, something goes wrong, thereby adding fuel to the flames. This week a rush of advertising compels us to use six pages, and while making the first run yesterday a bolt in the big press gave way, which put a stop to proceedings for a while. The paper is being run at the News office this week as a result. It is in times like this that a newspaper man rises up and thanks his lucky stars that his competitor is a white man and not averse to extending a helping hand to his brother-in-misery.

*This is a Store of Service---
a Store With a Conscience*

A real live conscience—a force that works for you and with us every minute of every day, year in and year out. It watches quality when we buy our merchandise, it limits profits when we sell our goods, it insures your satisfaction after you buy.

This conscience is a most wonderful thing, it evolves plans and ways of serving you better, it solves problems on merchandising, debating and substantiating each new departure of style, fabric and manufacture.

Our interest in our merchandise but increases when you own it, because we do not want to sell simply goods; we want to sell you satisfaction. When you are satisfied and only then do we feel that our service to you is complete and we have a right to the money you have paid us for the merchandise you buy.

You, our customer, deserve the best service we can give, and we are constantly striving to make it better.

It is, in truth, a store with which you want to get better acquainted.
